DEATH BY 69

'People' reader, 69, dies 69ing a 69-stone woman!

Probably the last thing our dearly departed reader ever saw

IN A very TRAGIC coincidence that has eggheads BAFFLED, Vijay Müncher (an avid People reader of Indian and German descent) was SMOTHERED TO DEATH at age 69 while 69ing one of the WORLD'S FATTEST WOMEN, Fanny Gurthie, who tips the scales at 438.17kg (or, in the old currency, 69 STONE).

Vijay's SHOCKING SUFFOCATION at his home in Hahndorf, South Australia isn't being treated by the local coppers as suspicious.

"Though it does leave a weird taste in your mouth," dry-retched a police spokesman, who then TASERED a hippie to feel better.

"He really died doing what he loved," sobbed Fanny while eating from a bucket of KFC. "At least Vijay won't have to live in a world without his fave mag, People."

"All these 69s could be a sign that God has had quite enough of climate change and idiot wowsers," said amateur NUMEROLOGIST and LOCAL FLASHER, Richard Stroker, "especially when you add on top of that the fact that Vijay's fave wank-rag People is also dying at age 69."

Don't say we didn't warn you, readers.

Luckily for us, the whole sorry affair was caught on camera

CAUTION

Careless handling of Sabine could lead to scorched undies!

SHE'S a supermodel, an actress and an all-round-SPUNK, but sexy Sabine will always be best remembered as our VERY LAST People magazine cover girl.

Now, now, dear reader. Wipe away that salty tear…from your eye AND the eye of your COCK. ▸

ON!

▶ Because the sizzling 28-year-old Pomgolian pin-up is here to cheer you up and, hopefully, CRACK A STIFFY.

Latvian-born Sabine – full name Sabine Jemeljanova – once said, “I love doing things outdoors; walking in the mountains, climbing trees or running NAKED through forests!”

Which immediately made us want to jump off our barstools, leave the pub and head to the nearest national park...before we calmed down.

‘THE GUY SAID TO JUST KEEP PULLING IT’

Her favourite season is winter, “because it’s really cold outside and you can wrap up warm and drink MULLED WINE”.

We’ll stick to VB, but we like the way Sabine thinks.

Recently, we stumbled across this mysterious quote from the brunette: “I was standing there for a while, and the guy said to just KEEP PULLING IT.”

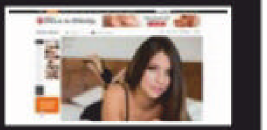
We have NO IDEA what she’s talking about, but we reckon it’s the perfect way to end this story before we head off for A PULL OF OUR OWN!

LOOKING KATE
DIOR

GROWING MOSS

AFTER surviving the heroin chic days of the 1990s, it's good to see supermodel Kate Moss with a bit more MEAT on her bones...especially her TIT-BONES. The 45-year-old Pom showed off her FLOATIES as she posed for Froggy fashion label Dior on the beaches of Miami, Florida.

CHEB SITE



YOU BOOTY!

BRAZILIAN website belladasemana.com.br means "beauty of the week". And because the Brazos love PLOP-SOCKETS, that really means 'BOOTY of the week'. And Beatriz Aguiar definitely has a CRACKER of a keister. "I really like my body," cooed the 21-year-old model. "However, my butt really deserves to stand out." It sure does.

ONE WE MISSED

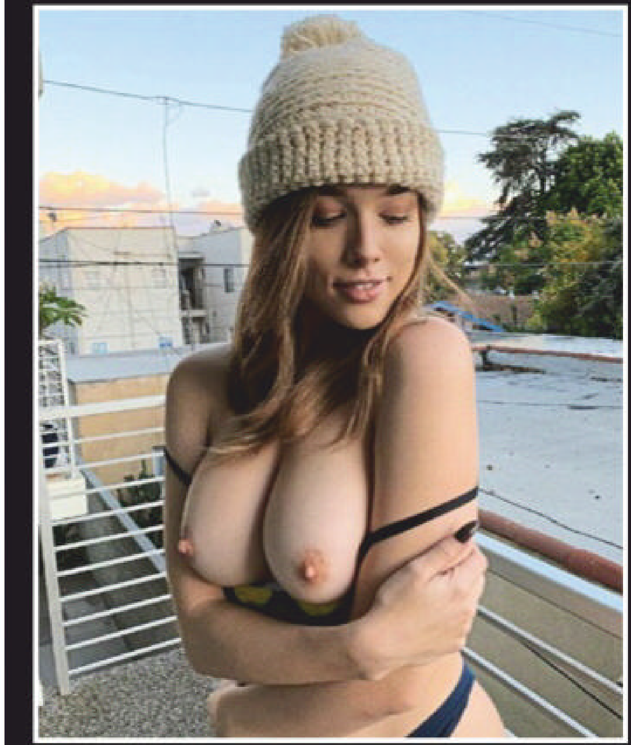
OH, RUBY!

WE REPORTED on the ultra-fine rack of German actrine Ruby O. Fee back in our July 1 Full Frontal. It has just come to our attention that Rubes plays a stripper in the 2015 Kraut film As We Were Dreaming. SPOILER ALERT: the 23-year-old fulfils her character's arc in the film by TAKING OFF HER DUDS.

SHARING THE LOVE

The freshest flesh on celebrity social media

SEPPO model Abigail Ratchford, 27, loves testing out Instagram's no-nipple policy. We always love looking at her PLAPPS.



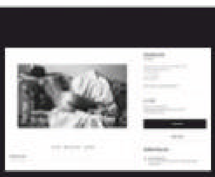
NOW that mags are dying – or so we've been told – nude glammas have started selling their photos and vids online, like Yank model Lauren Summer, 30, does on her Patreon site.

BELLA'S BUTT

POPPING OUT

WE'RE not really sure what Yank model Bella Hadid is doing here while holidaying on the island of St Barts. Obviously, she's having a holiday – but we don't know what she's doing in THIS snap. Is she twerking? Or did she just cop a BALL to the GROIN? Our favourite theory is she's just letting rip on a FART that'd KILL A BROWN DOG.

BUM PEOPLE



SCAR-JO'S ARSE-O

BACK in 2012, Pomgolian artiste Jonathan Yeo photographed and painted a bunch of famous pricks and arseholes, calling the work Some People. The Pommy cunt never invited us to the opening, though. It was in London, but still...we might've gone had we known one of the ARSEHOLES belonged to Scarlett Johansson.

L OF A SHOW

WE WERE big fans of the lesbian soap opera The L Word. So when it reached its CLIMAX in 2009 we didn't think things could get any WORSE. And then 2019 came along and we got SACKED. On the bright side, The L Word: Generation Q has made its very welcome small-screen debut on Stan. The first ep had a TOUCHING love scene featuring actrines Arienne Mandi and Rosanny Zayas…and their TONGUES.

LIYA SILVER

WE KNOW what you're thinking and you're DEAD RIGHT – we can't believe it's NOT butter, either. But once you wrap your head around that fact, you'll probably see this picture and think the 20-year-old RUSSKI porn star Liya Silver is just TOO HOT to do X-RATED FILTH. Luckily for all of MANKIND, she does.

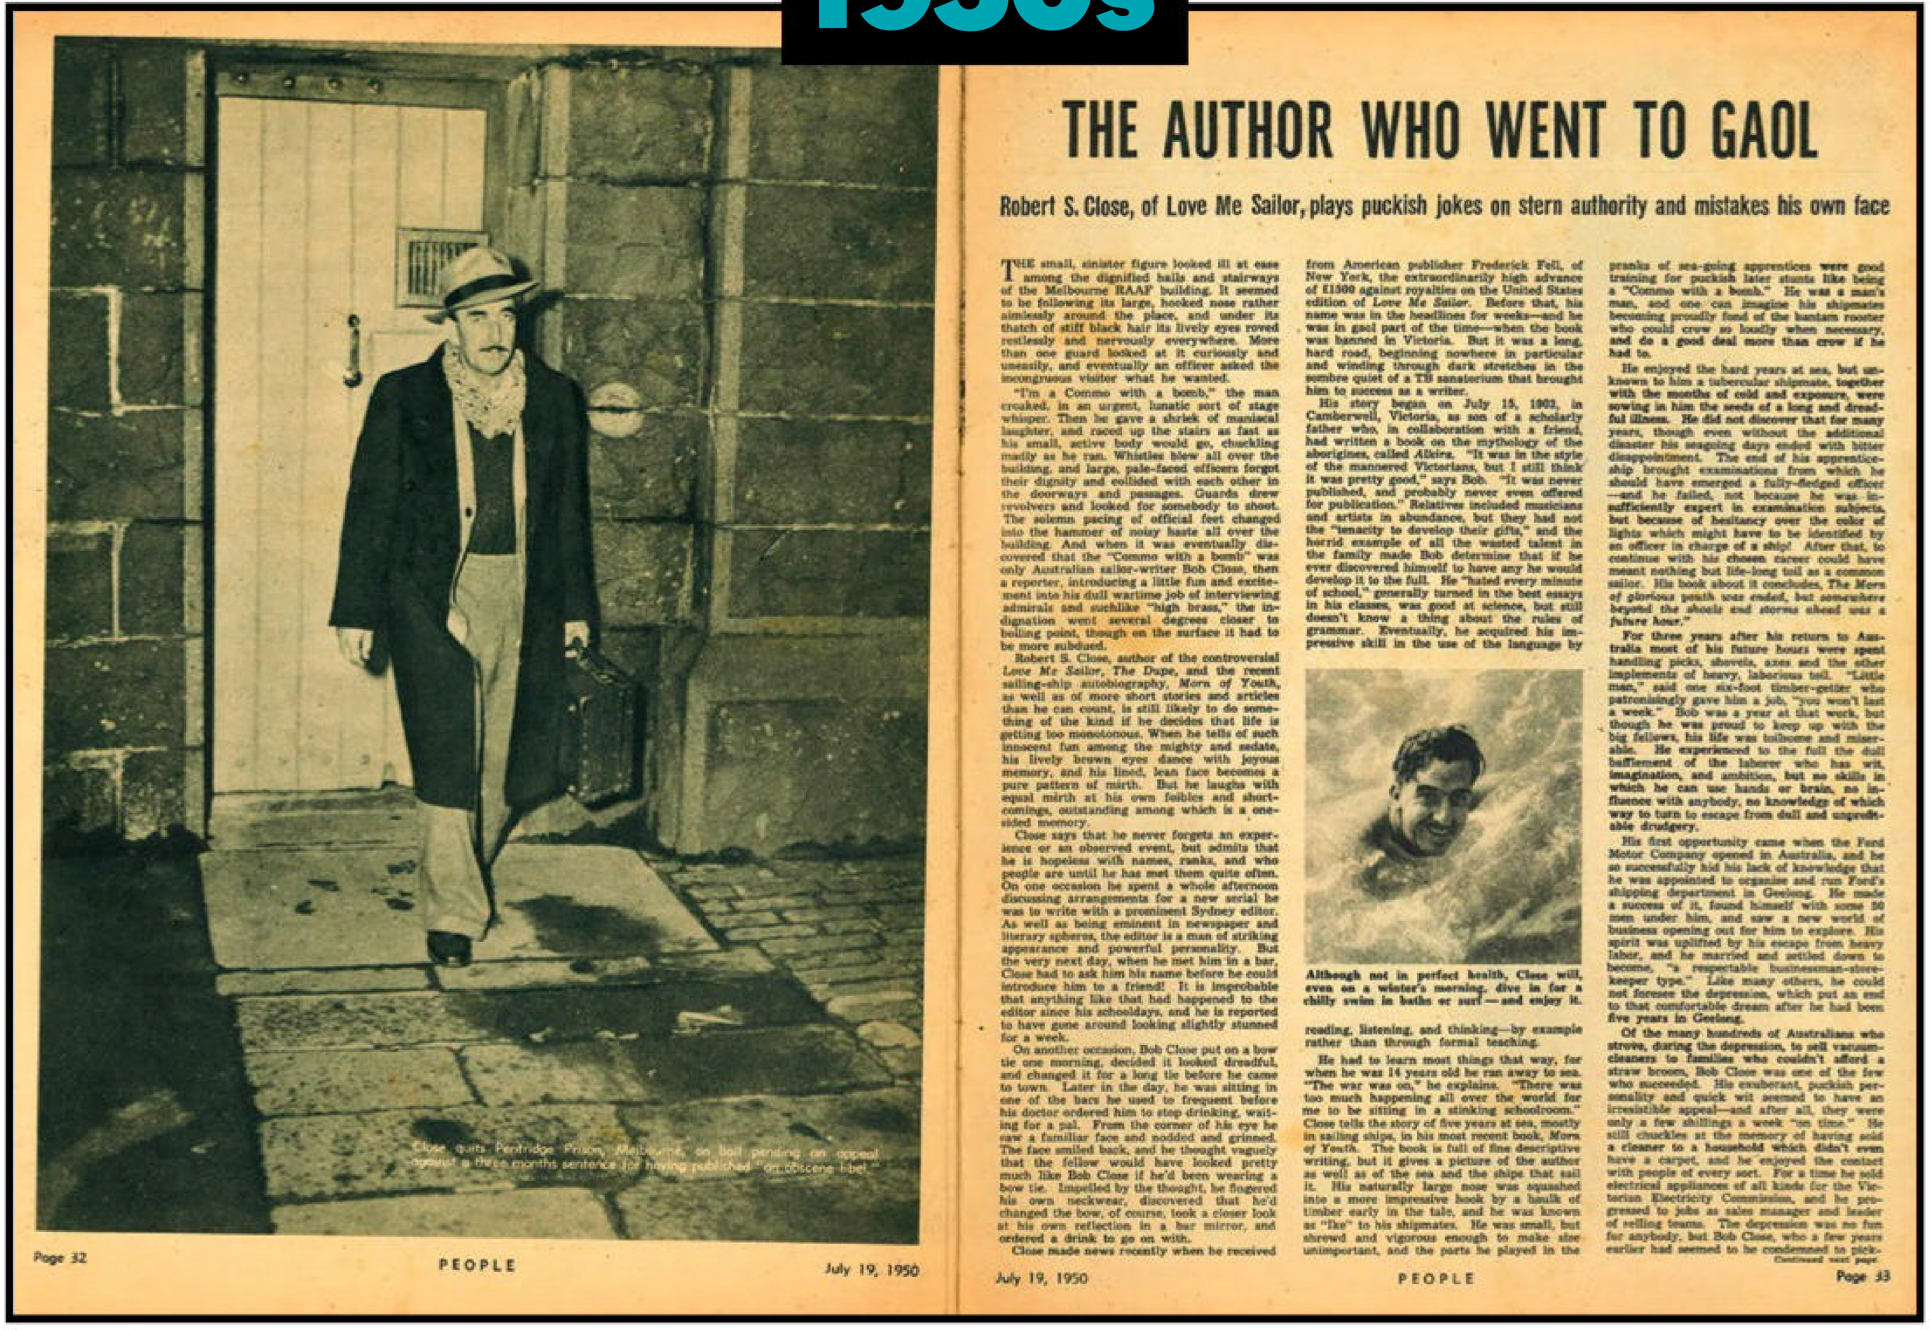
1950s



Close quits Pentridge Prison, Melbourne, on bail pending an appeal against a three months sentence for having published "an obscene libel."

THE AUTHOR WHO WENT TO GAOL

Robert S. Close, of Love Me Sailor, plays puckish jokes on stern authority and mistakes his own face

THE small, sinister figure looked ill at ease among the dignified halls and stairways of the Melbourne RAAF building. It seemed to be following its large, hooked nose rather aimlessly around the place, and under its thatch of stiff black hair its lively eyes roved restlessly and nervously everywhere. More than one guard looked at it curiously and uneasily, and eventually an officer asked the incongruous visitor what he wanted.

"I'm a Commo with a bomb," the man croaked, in an urgent, lunatic sort of stage whisper. Then he gave a shriek of maniacal laughter, and raced up the stairs as fast as his small, active body would go, chuckling madly as he ran. Whistles blew all over the building, and large, pale-faced officers forgot their dignity and collided with each other in the doorways and passages. Guards drew revolvers and looked for somebody to shoot. The solemn pacing of official feet changed into the hammer of noisy haste all over the building. And when it was eventually discovered that the "Commo with a bomb" was only Australian sailor-writer Bob Close, then a reporter, introducing a little fun and excitement into his dull wartime job of interviewing admirals and suchlike "high brass," the indignation went several degrees closer to boiling point, though on the surface it had to be more subdued.

Robert S. Close, author of the controversial Love Me Sailor, The Dupe, and the recent sailing-ship autobiography, Morn of Youth, as well as of more short stories and articles than he can count, is still likely to do something of the kind if he decides that life is getting too monotonous. When he tells of such innocent fun among the mighty and sedate, his lively brown eyes dance with joyous memory, and his lined, lean face becomes a pure pattern of mirth. But he laughs with equal mirth at his own foibles and shortcomings, outstanding among which is a one-sided memory.

Close says that he never forgets an experience or an observed event, but admits that he is hopeless with names, ranks, and who people are until he has met them quite often. On one occasion he spent a whole afternoon discussing arrangements for a new serial he was to write with a prominent Sydney editor. As well as being eminent in newspaper and literary spheres, the editor is a man of striking appearance and powerful personality. But the very next day, when he met him in a bar, Close had to ask him his name before he could introduce him to a friend! It is improbable that anything like that had happened to the editor since his schooldays, and he is reported to have gone around looking slightly stunned for a week.

On another occasion, Bob Close put on a bow tie one morning, decided it looked dreadful, and changed it for a long tie before he came to town. Later in the day, he was sitting in one of the bars he used to frequent before his doctor ordered him to stop drinking, waiting for a pal. From the corner of his eye he saw a familiar face and nodded and grinned. The face smiled back, and he thought vaguely that the fellow would have looked pretty much like Bob Close if he'd been wearing a bow tie. Impelled by the thought, he fingered his own neckwear, discovered that he'd changed the bow, of course, took a closer look at his own reflection in a bar mirror, and ordered a drink to go on with.

Close made news recently when he received from American publisher Frederick Fell, of New York, the extraordinarily high advance of £1500 against royalties on the United States edition of Love Me Sailor. Before that, his name was in the headlines for weeks—and he was in gaol part of the time—when the book was banned in Victoria. But it was a long, hard road, beginning nowhere in particular and winding through dark stretches in the sombre quiet of a TB sanatorium that brought him to success as a writer.

His story began on July 15, 1903, in Camberwell, Victoria, as son of a scholarly father who, in collaboration with a friend, had written a book on the mythology of the aborigines, called Alcira. "It was in the style of the mannered Victorians, but I still think it was pretty good," says Bob. "It was never published, and probably never even offered for publication." Relatives included musicians and artists in abundance, but they had not the "tenacity to develop their gifts," and the horrid example of all the wasted talent in the family made Bob determine that if he ever discovered himself to have any he would develop it to the full. He "hated every minute of school," generally turned in the best essays in his classes, was good at science, but still doesn't know a thing about the rules of grammar. Eventually, he acquired his impressive skill in the use of the language by reading, listening, and thinking—by example rather than through formal teaching.

Although not in perfect health, Close will, even on a winter's morning, dive in for a chilly swim in baths or surf—and enjoy it.

He had to learn most things that way, for when he was 14 years old he ran away to sea. "The war was on," he explains. "There was too much happening all over the world for me to be sitting in a stinking schoolroom." Close tells the story of five years at sea, mostly in sailing ships, in his most recent book, Morn of Youth. The book is full of fine descriptive writing, but it gives a picture of the author as well as of the sea and the ships that sail it. His naturally large nose was squashed into a more impressive hook by a baulk of timber early in the tale, and he was known as "Ike" to his shipmates. He was small, but shrewd and vigorous enough to make size unimportant, and the parts he played in the pranks of sea-going apprentices were good training for puckish later stunts like being a "Commo with a bomb." He was a man's man, and one can imagine his shipmates becoming proudly fond of the bantam rooster who could crow so loudly when necessary, and do a good deal more than crow if he had to.

He enjoyed the hard years at sea, but unknown to him a tubercular shipmate, together with the months of cold and exposure, were sowing in him the seeds of a long and dreadful illness. He did not discover that for many years, though even without the additional disaster his seagoing days ended with bitter disappointment. The end of his apprenticeship brought examinations from which he should have emerged a fully-fledged officer—and he failed, not because he was insufficiently expert in examination subjects, but because of hesitancy over the color of lights which might have to be identified by an officer in charge of a ship! After that, to continue with his chosen career could have meant nothing but life-long toil as a common sailor. His book about it concludes, The Morn of glorious youth was ended, but somewhere beyond the shoals and storms ahead was a future hour."

For three years after his return to Australia most of his future hours were spent handling picks, shovels, axes and the other implements of heavy, laborious toil. "Little man," said one six-foot timber-getter who patronisingly gave him a job, "you won't last a week." Bob was a year at that work, but though he was proud to keep up with the big fellows, his life was toilsome and miserable. He experienced to the full the dull bafflement of the laborer who has wit, imagination, and ambition, but no skills in which he can use hands or brain, no influence with anybody, no knowledge of which way to turn to escape from dull and unprofitable drudgery.

His first opportunity came when the Ford Motor Company opened in Australia, and he so successfully hid his lack of knowledge that he was appointed to organise and run Ford's shipping department in Geelong. He made a success of it, found himself with some 50 men under him, and saw a new world of business opening out for him to explore. His spirit was uplifted by his escape from heavy labor, and he married and settled down to become, "a respectable businessman-storekeeper type." Like many others, he could not foresee the depression, which put an end to that comfortable dream after he had been five years in Geelong.

Of the many hundreds of Australians who strove, during the depression, to sell vacuum-cleaners to families who couldn't afford a straw broom, Bob Close was one of the few who succeeded. His exuberant, puckish personality and quick wit seemed to have an irresistible appeal—and after all, they were only a few shillings a week "on time." He still chuckles at the memory of having sold a cleaner to a household which didn't even have a carpet, and he enjoyed the contact with people of every sort. For a time he sold electrical appliances of all kinds for the Victorian Electricity Commission, and he progressed to jobs as sales manager and leader of selling teams. The depression was no fun for anybody, but Bob Close, who a few years earlier had seemed to be condemned to pick-

A NEW-TYPE WHIRLYBIRD SOLVES YOUR PARKING

IF you think traffic conditions are almost impossible today, take heart. In a few years, providing present hopes are realised, the roads will open up. Of course, the skies may become a little crowded, but that's another story.

A firm in California has completed plans to go into immediate full-scale production of a single-seater fly-it-yourself whirlybird, priced within the range of today's compact cars. It's called a helipod, defined as a vertical take-off and landing, shielded, rotating-wing biplane.

Unlike the stereotype helicopter, the helipod gets its lift from six shielded wings which, under a new design, provide more lift with a less powerful engine, thus making operating costs—in terms of petrol and oil—comparable with those of the motor car. The helipod will fly five or six hours without refuelling, at speeds up to 65 m.p.h.

CONTROLS have been simplified so that flying is very much like driving. The craft steers like a car and there are throttle, petrol and oil gauges, speedometer and brakes. The only extra is an altimeter.

WHAT happens in a power failure? Fear not, say the helipod people. The rotating wings adjust automatically so that the craft settles gently to earth at a safe rate of descent. And should you land on water, the light aluminium and fibreglass construction, combined with foam plastics, will keep the craft afloat.

In the works already are family-type jobs for up to five passengers.

If the helipod becomes popular, auto travel should be a pleasure again. #

Helipod's manoeuvrability comes in handy in all kinds of situations—it may provide that "new lift" which could mean the saving of life.

This "fly-it-yourself" whirlybird is as cheap to run as your motor car and its controls are as simple to operate. Flying above today's traffic jams should make tomorrow's travelling much more pleasant.

LITTLE STINGER BIG CAUSES TRUCK-UP!

BUZZED OFF: Mark now keeps an eye out for little pricks.

WHO'D have thought such a little prick could cause such a BIG accident?

A wasp weighing less than a gram managed to tip this 10-tonne truck right off the road – and it wasn't even driving!

Truckie Mark O'Kane of Perth thought the buzzing in his ears was coming from his engine but found to his horror that he was sharing his cabin with an unwelcome hitchhiker.

Fear of being stung for the ride made him take a swipe at the poor little bug and that's where the journey really went wrong.

Instead of spattering the wasp against the window, Mark found himself splashing round in the Swan River after the tow truck swerved over a restraining wall and landed in the drink.

"Water started pouring into the cabin," said Mark. "So I climbed out through the driver's door and walked ashore.

"It's just lucky that I'm a tow-truck driver, because I know lots of blokes who can come to pull the bloody truck out."

And Mark, who's usually kind to animals, had only one thing to say about his passenger.

"I hope the little bastard drowned!"

UNI WOWSERS TELL MACHINE GUN FELLATIO TO...

'SUCK OFF!'

THE world's RUDEST band – Aussie's own Machine Gun Fellatio – were BLOWN AWAY after being given the arse by a bunch of university wankers!

The controversial rockers enjoy shocking audiences with nude on-stage antics and raunchy songs like Mutha Fukka On A Motorcycle. However, it was MGF's turn to be SHOCKED when two Victorian unis banned them from performing, labelling their act "offensive and sexist".

Swinburne Uni and the Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology used to be like other normal unis – full of

- Beaut chicks who believed in free love
- Loads of cheap beer and drugs, AND
- A really good chess club.

Not any more! Instead, they've clearly become a breeding ground for SOUR-FACED FEMINISTS and SAD WOWSERS who have some warped problem with the NAKED FEMALE BODY.

Luckily, the Uni of WA still appreciates great titties...er, we mean MUSIC – they quick smart booked Machine Gun Fellatio who turned up to a sell-out gig!

And right on schedule, lead singer KK Juggy whipped out her DUGGIES.

In the end, it was a victory for freedom of speech – and blokes in the crowd desperate to blow their MANLY MAYO!

[If you wanna hear more of MGF's fine music, we recommend you track down that almost-classic 1996 Aussie porno Sasha & Amber's Hardcore Holiday for which MGF did the soundtrack – Ed.]

Dec. 1, 2001: Big-mouthed Aussie boxer Anthony Mundine gets KOed by German IBF super-middleweight champ Sven Ottke. Many Aussies celebrate wildly at the news. Not us, but. Honest.

May 25, 2007: Pornhub is launched on the interwebz, forever changing the way we access our hardcore filth. People staffers shed a tear and head to the pub for the rest of the year.

April 19, 2009: Cake Boss premieres on this day, cementing reality shows as the dominant TV genre of the decade. We'd be upset, but Survivor is pretty sweet.

SHOW 'N' TELL

This rollercoaster-loving spunk is always up for a ride!

THE screams and laughter of happy punters, the taste of buttery popcorn, the excited cries of the sideshow alley spruikers, the smell of FRESH VOMIT on the ground beneath some STOMACH-CHURNING RIDE ... Ahhhh, everyone loves a FUN FAIR, eh readers? And none more than Tasha. In fact, the only thing the 26-year-old Perthling loves more than a good agricultural show is getting ROOTED at one! ▸

‘I LOST MY VIRGINITY IN THE SIDESHOW ALLEY’

WHY does fairground FUCKING do it for you, Tasha?
"Haha! Well, I LOST MY VIRGINITY in a sideshow alley when I was 20. I guess I've spent the past six years trying to recapture that SMOO-TINGLING feeling of MY FIRST TIME."
Twenty is a bit late to pop your cherry, isn't it?
"I was a shy country gal and it just hadn't happened till the day the CARNIES came to town! My first taste of the real thing occurred when a gorgeous guy who used to spruik the rollercoaster offered to take me for a ride on his BIG DIPPER."
Ooh-er! We get the picture!
"He wasn't kidding, either – he led me behind the coconut shy stall, lay me down on a blanket, then showed me his EIGHT-INCH DAGWOOD DOG. I was very excited because it looked so BIG AND GOOD ENOUGH TO EAT and I wanted as much of it as possible up my cunny."
How did the SEX go, mate?
"The fella told me to play with myself till I was MOIST, then he eased into my slit and we were away. He was so GENTLE and considerate, making sure my first time was an INCREDIBLE experience!"
Did you ever see the carny again?
"Every night for a week – we BANGED everywhere, even IN THE ROLLERCOASTER during an early-morning test run. That was a MIND-BLOWING ROOT, let me tell ya!"
What happened at the end of the week?
"Hey, he's a carny…so he left with the fair, leaving me behind with my memories …an ACHING PUSSY and an insatiable fetish for SIDESHOW ALLEY SEX!"
Well, if you're going to another show anytime soon, don't forget to bring us back a toffee apple.

P-MAGS FAREWELL BEANO!

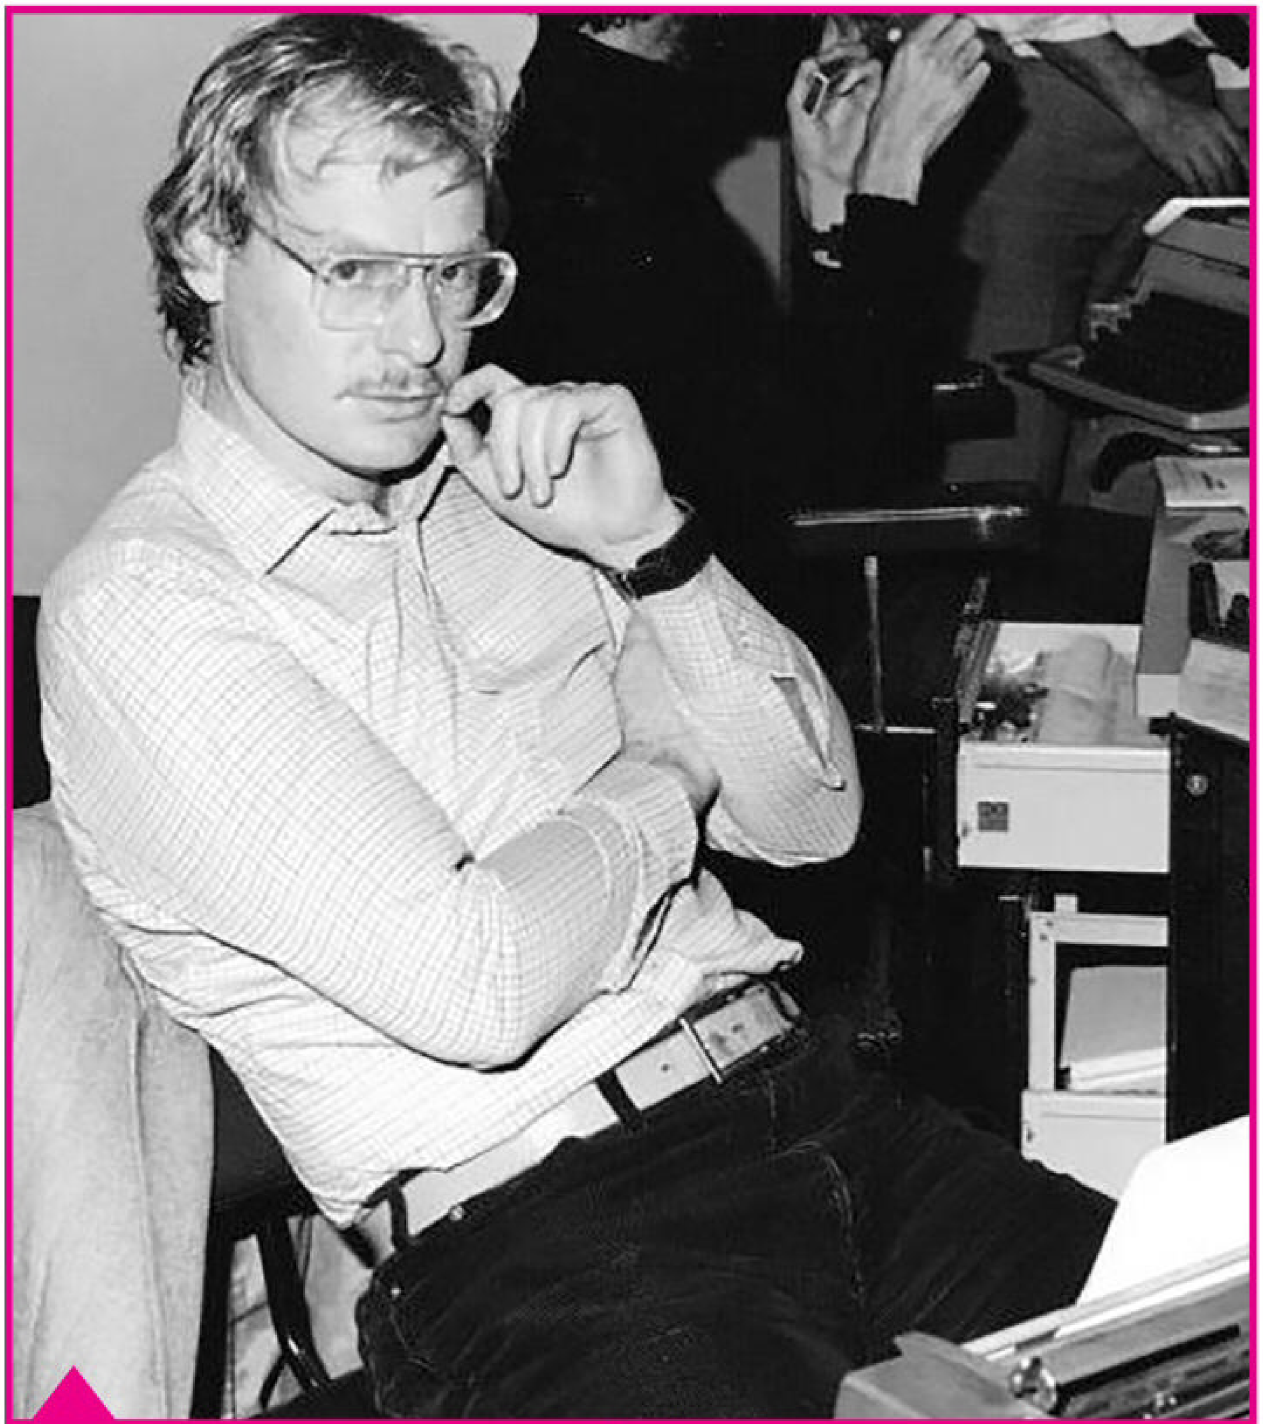
ANTON



DAVID NAYLOR

(Editor, 1982-89, 1990-97)

THE day I started work as a sub-editor on Pix-People in 1976, the stuffy Fairfax management had just banned the weekly magazine from running stories about sharks, ghosts, UFOs or nude beaches. Nipple exposure had to be discreet and limited to 2½ per issue. The nipple count was strictly enforced.

Since these were exactly the type of stories and pics that had made the mag a success, the collapse in newsagent sales that followed had inevitable consequences. The editor resigned. The head of the magazine division was removed. Pix was taken off the masthead. And the editorial staff started testing the limits of the ban. We snuck the sharks, ghosts, UFOs and nipples back in, little by little, issue by issue, so that by the time I became editor in 1982, the cover lines on a typical ish would be more or less like this: “SHARK ATE MY BUM”, “UFO LANDS ON BONDI BEACH”, “SEX-MAD GHOSTS CAUGHT ON CAMERA” and “PERTH’S SECRET NUDE BEACHES”.

I was People editor until 1989 when I left to be the founding editor of The Picture for 12 months. For the next nine years, I was editor and editor-in-chief of both mags at various times.

People hit the peak of its popularity in 1988, selling more than 250,000 copies every week. The cover claimed it was “Australia’s Most Amazing Magazine”.

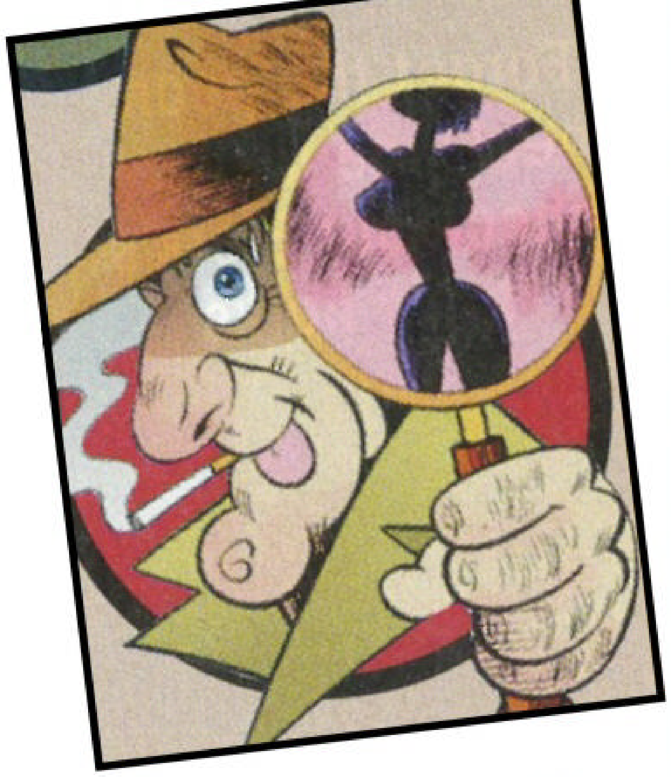
A TV ad campaign said the mag was for “people who fish with dynamite” and that “the Queen vomited” when she read the latest issue.

One of my favourite local stories was about a sex-change shearer. “I WANT MY PENIS BACK,” shouted the cover.

Another story was about a business that specialised in carving the skeletons out of dead horses. The headline (for those old enough to remember the TV series Mr Ed) was: “A CORPSE IS A CORPSE, OF COURSE OF COURSE, IT’S THE FAMOUS MISTER DEAD”. The young lady who wrote that headline went on to become editor of Woman’s Day.

I knew my time was up when a new generation preferred a heavier concentration of sex and nudity.

The “amazing” stories I loved publishing in the 1980s had become old hat, so I moved on and let the young guns continue the P-mag legacy in a completely new way.

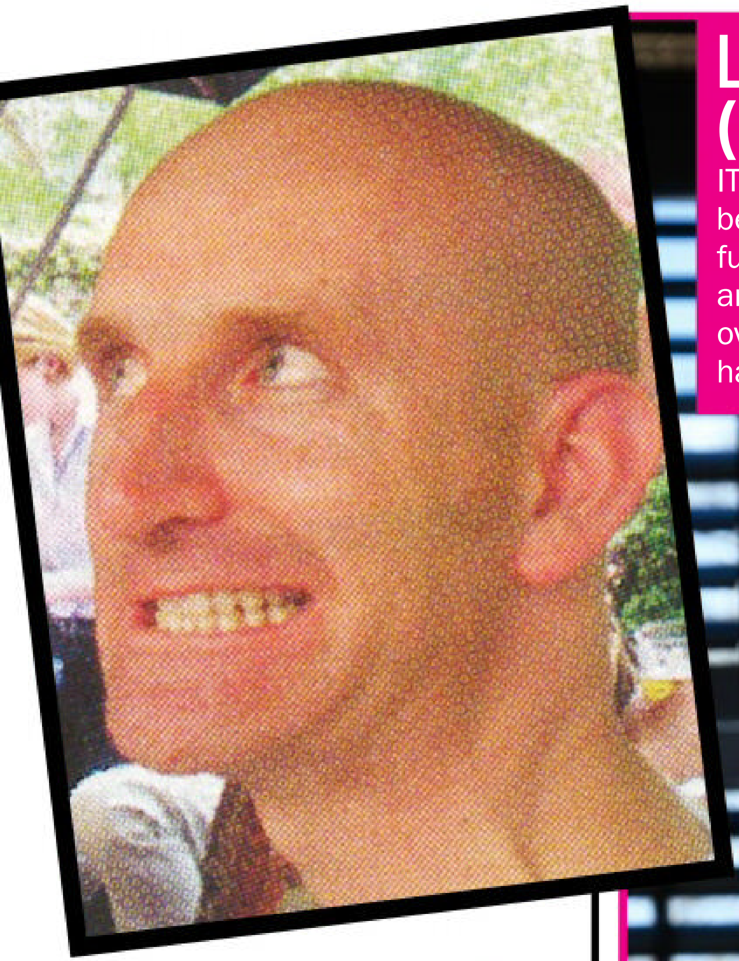


THE BODYSEARCHER

AT A time when the NSW Police seem bent on cavity-searching everyone who ever even thought of attending a music festival, it’s almost quaint to recall my career as People’s Bodysearcher, tasked with seeking out the finest nudity ever committed to celluloid and preserving a video grab or two for the delectation of the fillum lovers among our readership. Some, like Helen Mirren and Nicole Kidman, went above and beyond the call of diddy while others, such as Helen Hunt and Margot Robbie, contributed just one memorable scene to their...erm, body of work. One Aussie actress, from a family of QCs as it turned out, even bought herself an inner-city property on the proceeds of a lawsuit that turned on a single unfortunate phrase. These days, nudity, like smoking, is hard to find at the flicks, even in movies made by naughty Europeans. However, rest assured, The Bodysearcher is still out there, perusing Netflix and SBS On Demand with the same missionary zeal. Someone’s gotta do it.

TESSA FOWLER (US model, 32H-27-35)

OH MAN…this is such bummer news to hear. I’m really going to miss you guys. Thanks for publishing me and introducing me to all your Aussie fans! Xoxoxo



MARTIN VINE (Editor, 2002-08)

CONFESSION: my biggest fear as editor was I'd be the last. It wasn't an irrational one.

The world was changing rapidly around us. Disruptive tech was only part of the challenge. The cultural frequency the P-mags had tuned into was disappearing from the Aussie landscape.

It killed me to imagine I might be the captain to crash the good ship People onto the reef.

That the team kept the sails flying for more than a decade after my exit is testament to their passion and tenacity.

Their enduring morale will always be a mystery to me, but massive respect for all the hard work they put in to keep the spirit alive. To me, it was always something more than just circulation and readership numbers, profit and loss.

We had something special, something unique. Importantly, we had something whose likeness will never be seen again.

So what was the magic formula? An old legend used to say, "Surround yourself with geniuses." It worked particularly well in our mag.

Why? Because no one expected it from us. Maybe that was the key to our resilience: they always underestimated us.

LEAH FRANCIS (Brit pin-up icon)

IT'S been very empowering being on People covers in my full glory! Goodbye, readers, and thanks for your support over the years. I could not have done it without you.

SHANE CUBIS (Editor, 2010-13)

PEOPLE was the most fun job I've ever had. It was ridiculous to get paid cash money and free beer to spend my workdays looking at nude slebs, reading sex confessions, writing dumb jokes and ringing up girls-next-door to ask about their rooting adventures.

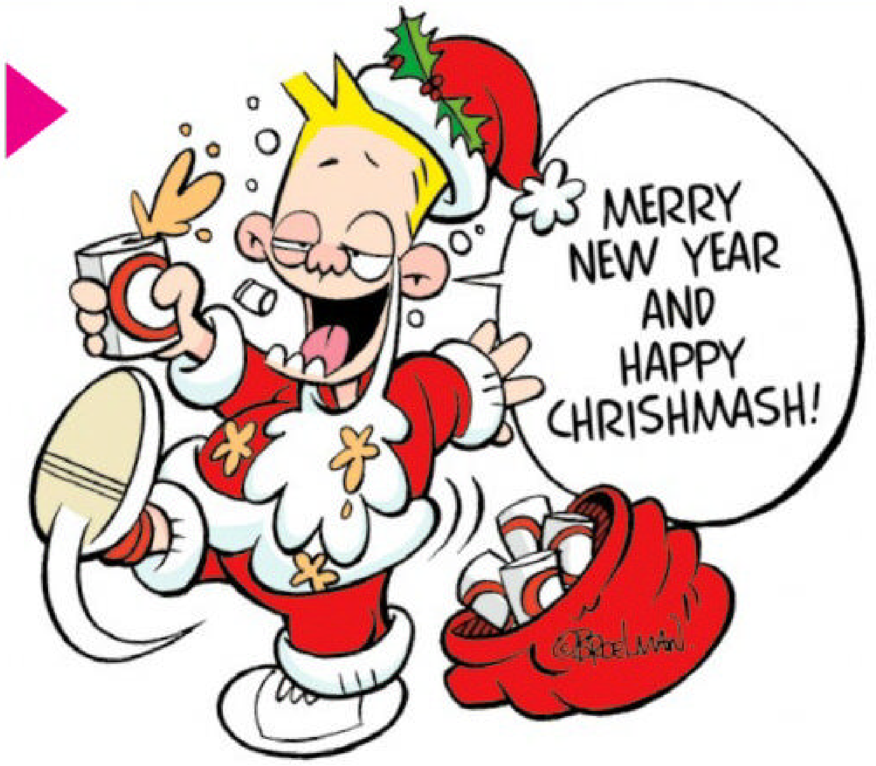
Being editor was even better, because I could do all that AND boss people around, although it was tough to go from being the bloke in the pub on a Friday who said, "One more round – they can't sack us all!" to the bloke who said, "Back to work, everyone – we've got a mag to finish... Please?"

My fave yarn we did was "PEOPLE GETS A COUCH" – an absolute pisstake across six pages where we bought a cheap couch off Gumtree, asked a porn star to come drink with us for the arvo and took a bunch of photos of us all fucking around on it (the couch, not the porn star). Absolute glory days.

PETER BROELMAN (Cartoonist extraordinaire)

EDITOR David Naylor clearly saw something I didn't when I pitched "Wildlife" to People in 1990. "Ratbags" then came on the scene and so did, on occasion, censors. Other comic strips came and went, but Scud and Chook had an amazing run of something like 12 years before I ran out of smut jokes and headed off into the world of political cartoons.

I also realised there wasn't much difference in questionable behaviour. I'll be forever grateful to People for getting my cartoony career off to a good start. I still have a pile in my studio. I miss it.



MERRY NEW YEAR AND HAPPY CHRISHMASH!

I'M REALLY sad to hear the news about the last issue of People. You guys always had such great stuff. Thanks so much for publishing me over the years.

RACHEL ALDANA
(UK model, 32M-26-36)

THERE comes a time when all things come to an end, but I was hoping yours wouldn't come quite so soon. Sorry to hear it, but thanks for featuring me over the years and best of luck to all your great staff.

JAMES LOVATT
(1970s staffer, who later founded Lovatts Puzzles)

ALL I can say about my years on People was that I would have cheerfully PAID to work there, it was that much fun. It's the only journalism job I ever enjoyed. Unlike the newspapers where I worked, People was planned around making readers happy, amused and sometimes amazed. From the brilliant writing of Frank Robson, Mick Barnes, Penny Barker and David Naylor (of course) to Pinkney's UFO columns and Marc de Pascale's horoscopes (he really believed in it and complained once when I cut a line), the whole thing was designed to entertain. I was pleased to be a part of that.

ANTON EMDIN
(Mad genius cartoonist)

I STARTED working with People 18 years ago (shit, am I that old?!) drawing the "My – Fuck" section. Readers would write in their best, worst and funniest sexual encounters and I'd draw them. It was a pretty good gig for a youngster like me who was thinking about sex constantly anyway.

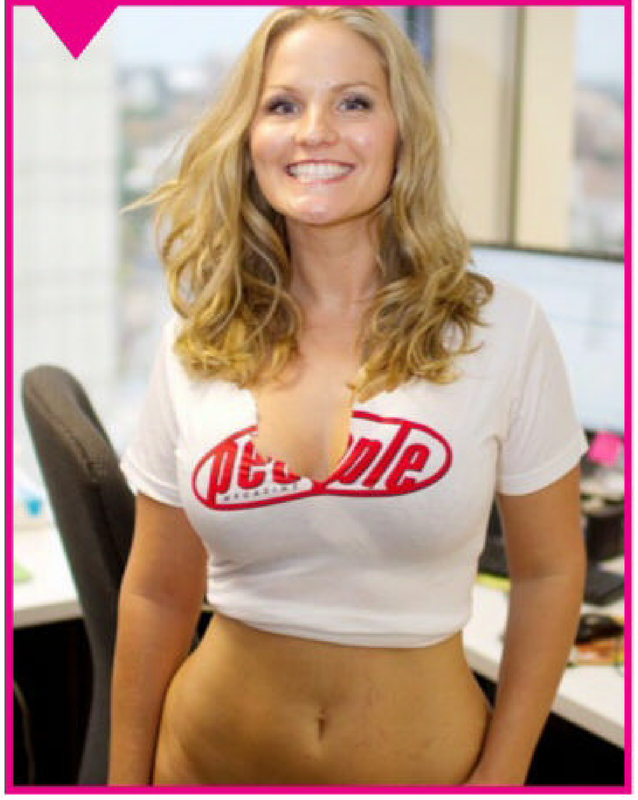
In 2009, after wading through the sticky trenches for almost a decade I was offered the regular spot on True Blue Confessions – a chance I jumped at like a frog in a sock! I also drew many "DIY: How To" features (my fave being "How to Draw Naked Chicks") as well as more than 160 Time Toilet comic strips. Yep, I've spilled a lot of ink and pushed a lot of pixels for People over the years and it's been a bloody great ride.

The men and women steering this booty-ful vessel are top humans, producing one of the funniest, most irreverent, sexiest and iconic Aussie mags ever to grace the newsstand.

On behalf of the many, many cartoonists they've supported over the years: Thanks for the mammaries.

KOURTNEY SUMMERS
(Former Spunk Of The Year and ex-nude editor)

WORKING with People was so much fun, although I have to say I'm disappointed the skills I learnt there haven't helped me in any other field. Motorboating my co-workers landed me in the HR office with a written warning, where at People I was promoted! Ha! I'm sad to see you go – thanks for the good times.



LEANNE CROW
(Brit with tits, 34M-30-38)

HEY, People…so sorry to hear this news. I always loved being published in your pages. Hope you guys have a great final issue.

IF BIG bastard Alistair Overeem looks CRANKY it's not just because his modelling career is now FUCKED. It's also because the Dutchman was winning for all but the last FOUR SECONDS of his 25-minute UFC heavyweight fight with Suriname's Jairzinho Rozenstruik. However, a right hand from JR KOed Alistair and turned his LIP into an ARSE CRACK requiring emergency plazzo surgery at a nearby Washington DC hospital.

I FIRST started reading People in the early 50s. My pop let me read it. My nan used to scream blue murder, but Pop said it was good for my life education. I've enjoyed the mag over the past 60-odd years and I love it for what it represented – Australia. I'm 74 years old, and I will miss my dose of People. Good luck to all staff past and present. And thanks for a great mag.

Hailing from Louisiana, YOO-ESS-AY, Dixie was a real STUNNA with even more STUNNING G-cups. She retired from the biz at age 31 in 2000, and downsized her 1500cc IMPLANTS soon after.

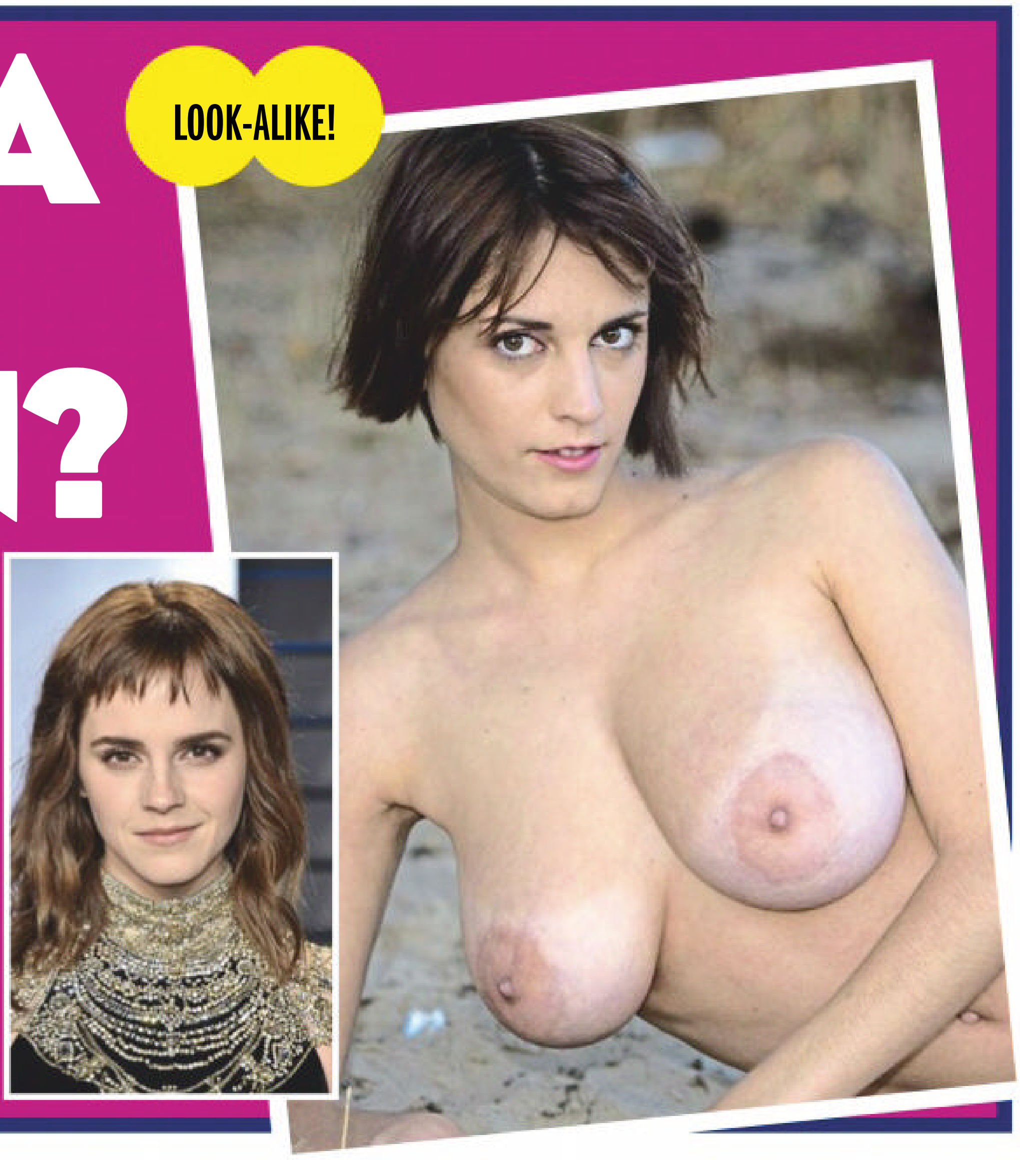
SIM'S TITTIES

IN MY younger days I used to crank it HARD to Nikki Sims. Frustratingly, she kept her clothes on. Is there any chance you can fulfil my flogging destiny and show me her diddies?

RM, Vic

Tease model Nikki Sims became famous as a 23-year-old with her wank-worthy website back in 2007. Now 35, the Nikster is still teasing online at NikkiSims.com. And hoo-BLOODY-ray! She has FINALLY UNLEASHED her triffic KRAKENS!

EMMA OR LYNN?



LYNN, the Kiwi centrefold from December 16, looks identical to the Pommy actress Emma Watson from Harry Potter. I always wanted Emma to have bigger boobs. Now she kinda does thanks to Lynn!

Louis, Qld

As far as DOPPEL-BANGERS go, that's not too bad. Lynn looks like she could be Emma's older, MEGA-TITTED sister. Jeez – it's like some wizard has cast a SWELL SPELL in our PANTS!

ALL-NEW AUSSIE SHOOT!

IT'S our last fucking issue, so we can go APESHIT CRAZY and do ANYTHING WE WANT, readers. So, with that said, we've decided to declare GORGEOUS Queenslander Scarlett Morgan as AUSTRALIA'S GREATEST EVER PIN-UP. Who's gonna stop us? Nobody, that's who. And besides...IT'S BLOODY TRUE! ▶

UZI

Hi Scarlett! You're our last-ever centrefold. How does that feel?
"It's a FUCKING HONOUR guys, that's what it is. I can't believe it is the end but I'm so GRATEFUL to have been a part of this EPIC Aussie mag."

You're officially OZ'S GREATEST PIN-UP. Sadly, there's no cash, jewellery or a second-hand Hyundai Getz to give ya. Still, how do you feel about receiving this honour?
"No second-hand Getz? I'm out then, hahaha! How about some TINNIES? Hahaha! All jokes aside, though, I can't begin to describe the gratitude I have for all the readers and you guys in the office. Australia's Greatest Pin-up is a MASSIVE title and I'll be sure to wear it with PRIDE."

Tell us your favourite memory of shooting for us.
"My first-ever photo shoot was one I'll always remember. It was the Grindhouse-themed issue and I was lucky enough to be able to shoot with a bunch of awesome weapons. Grenades. Guns. SO MANY GUNS! The pin-up was a naked version of Rose McGowan's character from Planet Terror. I instantly knew I wanted to be a nudie model. And that's exactly what I did in the many years since."

What did you think of the magazine itself? What did you like about us?
"I loved the columns, the fun Aussie humour and Model Cits was always a fave. I loved opening the pages and seeing friends – sometimes FAMILY – in there. I loved the freedom of expression People allowed and all the synonyms for boobs I learned." ▸

'AUSTRALIA'S GREATEST PIN-UP IS A TITLE I'LL WEAR WITH PRIDE'

Now we're dead, where should blokes go to check out true-blue nude Aussie sheilas like yourself?
"You can find me at Instagram.com/scarlettmorganofficial, scarlettmorgan.net, onlyfans.com/ScarlettMorgan and patreon.com/ScarlettMorgan."

By the time this issue comes out our farewell party will be done and dusted (and we'll be feeling VERY DUSTY…either in jail or hospital). What's the hardest you've ever partied, buddy?
"Here's one story because we don't have enough pages for all my BAD BEHAVIOUR. I'll never forget being at a Swedish rock festival. It was the last day and the sun had finally come out after some very cool rainy days. I was downing Jägermeister like it was water and since I never put the bottle down I went through almost two litres in about two hours."

Jiminy cricket!
"Yeah, not ideal. Hahaha. I then went skinny-dipping in a nearby lake, hit on a bunch of hot Swedish METALHEADS before my friends had to carry me back to my tent vomiting. I missed the whole day of the festival and can no longer stand the smell of Jägermeister. Also, the new friends I made think that I'm insane but with GREAT TITS. Hahaha!"

What appeals to you most about Australian men when it comes to bonking them?
"I love good old Aussie humour. I could never date or ROOT AROUND with anyone that didn't make me laugh."

What's People's legacy after 69 years, ya reckon?
"I LOVE that it's 69 years…seems FITTING really. I wish there could be another 69 years."

Stuck up

A BLOKE was standing naked looking at himself in the mirror when his wife walked in.

He turned to her and asked, "Why do I always get a hard-on when I look at myself?"

His wife thought for a moment and replied, "Because even your cock thinks you're a cunt."

Q. WHAT'S the big difference between a bogan funeral and a bogan wedding?
A. One less drunk.

GY, Tas

Bike crook

A BLOKE in a Rolls-Royce was waiting at a red light in peak hour when a bum knocked on his window. As he lowered it, the bum asked, "Lend us a couple of bucks for a feed, mate?"

The driver removed the cigar from his mouth and said, "'Neither a borrower or lender be' – William Shakespeare."

He replaced his cigar, raised the window and proceeded to another red light at the next intersection.

The bum ran after the Rolls and knocked on the window again. When the driver opened it, the bum said, "'Cunt!' – DH Lawrence."

BEST JOKE

What a quack-up

A DUCK walked into a pub and ordered a beer. The barman looked at him in shock and squealed, "You can talk!"

"You're right," said the duck sarcastically, used to this kinda behaviour. "Can I get that beer, please?"

"Certainly, sorry about that," said the barman. "It's just we don't get many talking ducks in this pub. What are you doing round this way?"

"I'm working on that large building site across the road," explained the duck. "I'm a plasterer."

The barman wanted to learn more but took the hint when the duck pulled out a newspaper from his bag and started reading it. The same thing happened every day for two weeks.

One day, the circus came to town.

The ringmaster came into the pub and the barman said, "I know this duck that would be just brilliant in your circus. He talks, drinks beer, reads the newspaper and everything!"

"Get him to give me a call," said the ringmaster, and gave him his business card.

The next day, the duck came into the pub and the barman said, "I reckon I can line you up with a top job."

"Where is it?" asked the duck.

"At the circus," said the barman.

"That place with the big tent? With all the animals who live in cages and performers who live in caravans?" queried the duck. "And the tent has canvas sides and a big canvas roof with a giant hole in the middle?"

"That's the one!" said the barman.

The duck shook his head in amazement, then sighed, "What the fuck would they want with a plasterer?"

'MOST OF MY LIFE IS SPENT AVOIDING CONFLICT. I HARDLY EVER VISIT SYRIA'

Pumpin' away

MICK took a sip from his schooie at the pub, then turned to his mate and said, "I've just got myself a new penis enlarger."

"Is that so?" his mate said.

"Yep," smiled Mick. "She's 26 and her name's Kirsty."

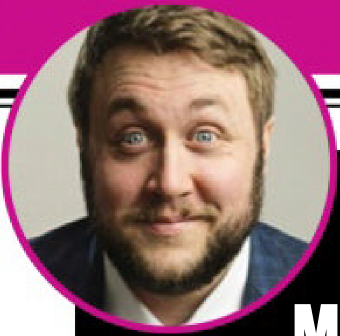
Mr Jones, is it?

IT WAS Jeff the mortician's job to examine the fresh dead bodies before they were sent off to be buried or cremated.

As he carefully examined the corpse of Mr Jones, who was about to be cremated, he made an amazing discovery.



TOM TOAL
'I'VE STOPPED MASTURBATING. SINCE THEN I'VE NOT REALLY FELT MYSELF'

Y'see, Mr Jones had the longest knob Jeff had ever seen.

"I'm sorry, old mate," said the mortician, "but I can't send you off to be cremated. Your wang has to be saved for posterity."

With that, Jeff used his surgical tools to remove the dead man's schlong. He stuffed it in a briefcase and took it home. The first person he showed it to was his wife.

"I have something to show you that you won't believe," he said, and opened up his briefcase to reveal its contents.

"Oh my God!" his missus screamed. "Mr Jones is dead!"

Titnapped

STEVE and Debbie had only been married a month when he failed to come home from work one arvo. Debbie searched all over town for him, but with no success.

Four days later, Debbie came home to find Steve sitting in the kitchen, eating a huge sandwich. She gave him a big hug and asked where he'd been.

"Well," said Steve, wiping mustard off his chin, "I was on my way home from work and these four crazed women kidnapped me and forced me to have wild sex with them for a week."

"That's terrible...but it's only been four days," said a puzzled Debbie. "What do you mean a week?"

Steve finished his final bite, stood, headed for the front door and said, "Babe, I just came back home to grab something to eat..."

TAKING you-beaut PORNOS and subtitled, SAUCY Euro-flicks on SBS out of the equation, there's been a SHITLOAD of big-screen buck-nakedness over the past 69 years! And because we're a JOURNAL OF RECORD, it's been our duty for the past seven decades to UNCOVER every on-screen glimpse of female naked flesh and publish it in the mag. Hooray for Holly-WOODY!

30 OF THE BEST...

CITS OF ALL TIME!

ONE of the things I LOVED MOST about working for this magazine for the past 20+ years was having the opportunity to perv on the NUDE next-door neighbours in Model Cits each issue. Whether they were TORPEDO-FLASHIN' TRAVELLERS or LEGS-AKIMBO LOCALS, these lovely ARSE-tounding amateurs helped put a smile on my dial and a PYRAMID in my pants. I hope they did the same for you, too. For this final ish, I've gone through our archives to dig up THIRTY of my all-time favourite babes who cheerfully gave WOWSERS the FINGER, then bared their bums, bushes and boozzies for our VIEWING PLEASURE. Model Cits, we salute you…and so do our STIFFIES! Cheers!

MEET boxing fan Jo, who can bang on forever about fighter statistics, Oz's pugilistic history and the results of every fight night she's ever attended. She's also a fan of male boxers' bods and has even ROOTED a few in her time. We excitedly gave our KNOBS a good thrashing while Jo chatted about her SPARRING SESSIONS in the sack!

WHO'S your favourite boxer?
"You can't go past the GOAT Muhammad Ali, although I have a soft spot for Smokin' Joe Frazier…maybe because we have similar first names! I'm also a fan of old Aussie legends like Les Darcy, Young Griffo and Johnny Famechon. I've done a ton of research into those guys and they were all absolute LEGENDS of the ring!"

Would we be right in thinking that you're attracted to boxers?
"Oh yeah! I love attending live events – partly for the fights ▸

‘WHEN IT COMES TO SEX, IT’S NO HOLES BARRED!

▶ but mainly so I can perv on the guys’ HOT BODS! I’m into lighter, smaller guys, especially the flyweights and bantamweights. They have muscular, wiry physiques. Yum! I’m not into heavyweights so much – too CLUMSY and awkward in the bedroom for my tastes. Although I’ll never say no to ANY fighter with a HEAVYWEIGHT COCK!”

What are you like in the sack?

“I go the distance, always CUM out on top and when it comes to doing the dirty deed itself, it’s NO HOLES BARRED!”

Have you ever banged about in a boxing ring, champ?

“Nope, but I’ve been banged in MY RING! Hee hee!”

Yeeesh. We’re throwing in the towel after that groaner.

Beth reveals more

WHEN we called up bodacious Beth for this interview we expected to hear loads of filthy yarns about THREESOMES, BLOWIES and LESBO LICKFESTS. As you do. But we were SHOCKED by what the part-time astrophysicist had to say!

WHAT have you been up to lately, Beth?
"I went clubbing last weekend and got chatting to this cute guy Ryan and his EVEN CUTER GIRLFRIEND Katya!"
Noice! Did you go the SEXY GROPE on the dancefloor?
"Er…no. We chatted at their table for a bit about the cricket and our Christmas plans, then they invited me to go BACK TO THEIR PLACE."
Phwoooooar. What happened next, buddy?
"Katya made us coffee and we listened to some music till around midnight. She then said she was tired and WENT TO BED."
Coorrrrrrr. Did you follow her and watch her UNDRESS ▸

UTH ARE

than just her bosoms

‘RYAN ASKED IF I COULD GIVE HIM A MASSAGE’

▸ while enjoying a sneaky FIVE-FINGER DISCOUNT?
“Nah. Me and Ryan sat in the living room and watched some YouTube videos for a bit, then played Red Dead Redemption 2 on the Xbox.”

We bet you did, nudge nudge, wink wink! Did you RUB HIS JOYSTICK, Beth?
“No…I had my own controller. Afterwards, Ryan said he had a sore neck and asked if I could give him a MASSAGE.”

Hehe! Did you relieve his… fnaaarrrrrrrrrrrrrr…TENSION?
“I guess so. Ryan told me his neck felt much better after the massage. By then it was 3am, so I said I had to go ’cos I had work in the morning. I ordered an Uber and left.”

Oh…er, right. So you didn’t ROOT him or his missus?
“Of course not. I barely knew them. Sorry if my story’s a bit dull, but I’m not gonna lie and make up some CRAZY SEXUAL FANTASY for you to print.”

You could at least TRY, Beth.

SEND IN A YARN AND SCORE ZERO

So we recommend you DON'T post it to True Blue Confessions. Don't email it either. A complete waste of time. Write to your local pollie instead and tell him (or her) that they're an UTTER BASTARD.

WHO NEEDS EFFIN' ORANGES?

MY GIRLFRIEND is a scorcher with red hair, firm breasts and the ROUNDEST ARSE you've ever seen. She has a sporty physique as she plays Aussie Rules every weekend.

Late last season, her team were getting SMASHED by the other side and were six goals down at half-time.

As the players went into the change room to MUNCH on oranges and get a pep talk from the coach, I sidled up to Carly and gave her THAT look. She looked around and, with her coach distracted, took my hand.

We headed to the car park, hopped in my Suzuki Swift and were soon KICKIN' GOALS in the back seat.

I knew Carly had missed out on an orange, so I offered her my RAMPAGING ROD OF TRUTH instead, which she greedily ate. She spun around so I could nibble on her WOOLLY WOMBAT as well.

Once she was good and slick, Carly climbed on top and eased down onto my 13-INCH PURPLE-HEADED YOGHURT-PUMPER.

I knew we didn't have much time, so we went hard'n'fast till I filled her PREMIERSHIP CUP to the brim!

> 'I FILLED HER CUP TO THE BRIM'

Carly hastily got dressed and dashed back to the change room. She copped a verbal roasting from her coach, but our quickie must have done something right because she booted FIVE GOALS in the second half and her team won by TWO FRIGGIN' POINTS!

Half-time roots are now a RITUAL every Saturday arvo at the footy!

Chris, Vic

SWAP TILL YOU BLOODY POP

I'M 40 and my marriage is UTTERLY STUFFED following a WIFE-SWAPPING SESH with our best friends. It began when we went round to theirs for a meal and started playing a party game. If you failed to answer a question correctly you had to remove a piece of clothing or do a DARE.

After a half hour we were in our UNDIES. My missus Penny looked amazing in her black frilly panties…but not as amazing as Jim's spunky wife Kerry. Her tits were bursting out of her CUT-OFF BRA. She also wore peek-a-boo knickers that showcased her PUFFY CUNT LIPS.

When Penny got the next question wrong, she took Jim's dare to straddle him with WHIPPED CREAM on her baps while he LICKED IT OFF. Penny squeezed his big stiffy and told Kerry, "You're a lucky girl!"

Kerry took a dare, too. Jim winked at me and said, "BLOW HIM, BABE." She grinned and dashed over to me, fishing out my FIVE-INCH TOCKO. She looked disappointed at the size of it, but was soon noshing on my HARDWOOD – I glanced over and my missus had pulled her knickers to one side and was RIDING Jim's COCK.

> 'SHE WORE PEEK-A-BOO KNICKERS'

I came in seconds and, sadly, that was the end of the fun for me. The others spent the night doing EVERYTHING under the sun while I was left to MY OWN DEVICES.

My wife was in a FRENZY I'd never seen before. Now, she won't root me and says she wants a divorce so she can move in with Jim and Kerry. Wife-swapping is FUCKIN' FUCKED!

HE HIT THE RIGHT NOTE

A FEW years ago, I went to a Caribbean-themed night at a Gold Coast pub, featuring cheap rum punches and a steel band. I went all out and wore the SKIMPIEST bikini I owned, so I could show off my HUGE HOOTERS.

I had a great time and knocked back way too many drinks. The HUNK running the party was a muscular West Indian guy called Tito who also played in the band. Late in the night I went up to him and said that if he wanted to SMASH something more interesting than a steel drum, then he should come with me.

> 'TITO EXPOSED HIS WHOPPER ON THE BEACH'

Tito followed me out the door and onto the beach.

We kissed and I could feel his ERECTION pressing into my crotch. I was wetter than a DROWNED RAT and told him I needed him inside me.

Tito dropped his shorts and exposed his WHOPPER – I gasped at the size but I was up for the CHALLENGE.

I stripped and got on ALL FOURS – he entered me easily and we shagged for ages before he EXPLODED WITH PLEASURE. My orgasm was VERY INTENSE and I happily collapsed afterwards.

Tito is my husband now and I have to say the SEX is as good today as it was that first night on the beach.
